Such, in some respects, is the situation in, which you are now placed; and such the office which this Institution, whose children you are, performs to you to-day. To-day you are under her tuition and authority; to-morrow you will be so no longer. What a solemn moment is this! Let me improve it, by delivering to you some words of counsel which it may be useful for you to remember. But what shall I say? What can I say that has not been already said? On former occasions, during your course of studies, it has fallen in my way to treat, imperfectly it is true, but in great sincerity and freedom, of almost every subject of interest to you as rational and accountable creatures, as individuals, or as members of the great family of mankind. I can therefore, only select, from the whole mass of subjects which have engaged your attention, some one of importance enough to make it a...
